PREFACE.

PREFACE.

The Twenty-eighth volume of the Lineage Book comprises the National Numbers 27001 to 28000, of members entering the Society 1899 when it numbered 30,000.

What mighty strides this army of patriotic women has made in a decade, not only numerically but in deeds of patriotism, fostering love of country, devotion to the flag, instructing the foreigner in the ways of law and liberty, maintaining the Constitution, and preserving for all generations the deeds of the men who formed, and those who upheld that Constitution.

The publication of this book records the deeds of many thousand more of ancestors than of the actual members of the Society.

Libraries throughout the country regard them as the nearly perfected work of genealogy. Our later volumes will give more thorough records, as the facilities for research increase, and the painstaking National Officer demands more thorough research by the applicant for complete papers.

May the future reader pardon a personal tribute in this volume to one who has been our able, untiring, intelligent compiler since the first volume of 1896. To her the Society may ever be grateful for this historical genealogy which is being made more perfect each year by her intelligent comprehension and devotion to the Society.
